Germany gave guarantees.

"I can add," the ambassador continued, "that Germany in order further to strengthen the understanding between both her allies, undertook, with the full agreement of the Vienna cabinet, to give a full guarantee for the fulfilment of the promises in a peaceful manner, or whether it will blame the countries into war and tomorrow draw the sword against its allies the three nations."

"I will not give up the hope entirely that the scale of war will be broken, not the scale of war, but whatever together with the other partner, how to meet the new dangers with confidence and courage."

The imperial chancellor's speech was loudly applauded from the galleries. The various secretaries of state were present.

ITALY PREPARES GREEN BOOK.

Rome, May 18.—(Via Paris, 4:25 a.m.) A Green Book the government is preparing will contain diplomatic documents tending to show the attitude of the government of the day, and the strenuous efforts made by the Italian government to reconcile the obligations of the Triple Alliance with the Italian aspirations and the principles of justice.

The documents show that the Italian government is in a position to defend its position in its desire to avoid a compromise point of view provided it is irrevocable it became necessary to sever relations with the central empires so far as the alliance was concerned.

VATICAN CLOSED TO TEUTONS.

Rome, May 18.—(Via Paris, 4:25 a.m.) The Vatican was closed to the clergy of this Empire, leaving the clerical personnel to the Holy See, sought permission to visit the Vatican, but the pope and his advisers refused to receive them, to avoid any compromise in the event of refusal.

It is thought the Vatican will not open its doors to the Austrian ambassador and his suite, and the Italian ministers accredited to the Holy See, who are expected to leave Rome, will also be refused entry into the Vatican.

Should entry into the Vatican be decided upon, the government would consider the validity of Article XI of the law of the constitution, which extends diplomatic accreditation to the Vatican the same prerogative as immunity granted those accredited to the Quirinal.

Another important question which is likely to arise, relative to the Austrian and German ecclesiastical of whom the Holy See is expected to receive, like Abbott von Stotzingen of the Benedictine order, who is a member of the Jesuits, the Italian government is still here.

FURIOUS FIGHTING ON EASTERN FRONT

tion, especially in the region of Kolomoia. Here the enemy has been reinforced and has assembled every resource he possesses for defense, Kolomoia being the only railway center connecting Bukovina with Transylvania and other Austro-Hungarian regions. The enemy's failure in this district, which is imminent, will cut off immediately his further resistance in Bukovina.

FIGHTING BLOODY, RUSSIANS REPORT.

Petrograd, May 18.—(Via London, May 18, 2:27 a.m.) The following official statement was issued by the war office tonight:

"In the Shavli region (Courland) we continue to press the enemy closely. In the region between the Niemen and the Verkhovye railway our troops have assumed the offensive."

"In the sector between Opavon, on the left bank of the Vistula and the whole Galician front, the divisions of Kolomoia, on May 16 great masses of the enemy attacked our positions, centering their efforts in the region to the north and south of Prazmyn."

"On the left bank of the Vistula we not only repulsed furious attacks, but assumed the offensive and captured 2,000 prisoners and numerous guns and machine guns."

"Near Jaroslavl, despite our withering artillery fire, which is inflicting immense losses, the Germans are still endeavoring to consolidate their position on the right bank of the San river. Here during the course of the day we brought down many hostile aeroplanes, which were correcting the fire of the enemy batteries."

"Under Prazmyn the artillery fire has been intense, the enemy bombarding the western forts."

"Between Prazmyn and the great marshes of the Dniester masses of the enemy which attacked us repeatedly in many places our wire entanglements, but were scattered by our troops. Nevertheless, at the cost of enormous sacrifices, the enemy captured two of our two of our battalions."

"The attack of the enemy in the region of Drobochova, Strzy, Bolikow, Bogdanow, and Kolomoia was repulsed with extreme energy, but was not without heavy losses."

"The losses of the enemy in general are estimated at about ten thousand."

GERMAN CORPSES COVER FIELD.

Paris, May 18.—The official statement given out this evening by the war department says:

"Continuous rain since Monday night and a thick mist, making it impossible to see the battlefield, and a great number of rifles."

"During the course of the engagements of yesterday we made some further prisoners."

"East of the canal we have consolidated the positions recently taken by us."

"During the night the Germans undertook a particularly violent counter attack, repulsed this action by a bombardment with artillery and bomb throwers. They were repulsed."

"In the region north of Notre Dame de Lorette on the road from St-Montjette to Souchez, we checked completely by our fire two other German counter attacks."

"At Souchez, we captured as a result of a night advance a group of German soldiers, who were killed. All along the front to the north of the canal, the enemy is endeavoring by day and by night. The Germans have been bombarded with 16 cm. mortars."

"In the region of Yille au Bois, near Berry-au-Bac, the enemy yesterday undertook a fierce attack, but he was easily repulsed."

COALITION CABINET TO RULE BRITAIN

Churchill Will Probably Retire From Admiralty—Premier Balfour Will Probably Succeed Churchill.

London, May 18.—Changes in the cabinet seem to be impending. It is anticipated that the expected formation of a coalition government in the government of Great Britain are aimed at a closer consolidation of all the parties for the purpose of carrying the war to a successful issue. Whether the leaders of the unionist, Irish and labor parties will be taken into the cabinet or admitted into the committee of imperial defense has not been made known.

There has arisen what looks to the public like a rupture between the chief head of the admiralty, Winston Spencer Churchill, and the lords of the admiralty, particularly Lord Fisher, admiral of the fleet. As the result, the possibility of material changes in the cabinet is being discussed.

Persistent rumors were in circulation in the lobby of the house of commons man army headquarters today gave out the following report:

"In the western theater, the British fleet, under the command of Lord Fisher, is on the eastern bank of the canal, fighting the battles at some points and continuing today. South of Neuve Chapelle yesterday and again today British attacks were repulsed with heavy losses on the enemy's side."

"Renewed French attacks on the heights of Lorete, near Arras and west of Souchez, failed. One hundred and fifty prisoners were taken."

FOR MORE TROOPS AIR POISON GASES KITCHENER CALLS

War Secretary of Great Britain Tells Lords He Needs 300,000 Men to Form New Armies.

London, May 18.—Lord Kitchener told the house of lords today he wanted 300,000 more recruits.

He expressed confidence that in the very near future the country would be in a satisfactory position with regard to the supply of ammunition. The news from the Gallipoli peninsula, in other words the Dardanelles, was thoroughly satisfactory, Lord Kitchener declared.

To Use German Methods. Lord Kitchener stated that the British and French governments felt that the allied troops must be adequately protected against poisonous gases by the employment of similar methods of warfare. These would remove the enormous and unjustifiable advantage which must otherwise exist, he said.

"The Germans," said Lord Kitchener, "have persisted in the use of these asphyxiating gases whenever the wind favored or other opportunity occurred, and his majesty's government, no less than the French government, feel that our troops must be adequately protected by the employment of similar methods so as to remove the enormous and unjustifiable advantage which must exist for them if we take no steps to meet on his own ground the enemy who is responsible for the introduction of this pernicious practice."

Kitchener on Recent Fighting. Referring to the offensive movements now in progress in La Bassée and the Arras region, Lord Kitchener said:

"We have all followed with admiration the forward movements of our brave allies in an offensive operation which has been marked with complete success, and which is still proceeding with every promise and indication of being wholly satisfactory. The attacks delivered by our forces, at first, were not attended with the same immediate success owing to the elaborate arrangements made by the Germans to defend their lines after their experience at Neuve Chapelle, but on the night of May 15, by a renewed effort, the British forces drove back the enemy on a front of approximately two miles for a considerable distance, and captured from 400 to 500 prisoners. This action also proceeded, and we hope that in conformity with the French operations it will achieve important results."

These offensive operations against the trenches of the enemy have demanded enormous expenditures in ammunition, both of our own and the allied forces. It is an excellent indication that in the very near future we regard to the supply of these articles, these offensive operations have been heavy, but the task our armies have accomplished has been of great sacrifice, and the spirit and morale of our troops has never been higher than at the present moment."

The war secretary had this to say concerning the position of the Russians:

"The Russians now hold a strong line from the eastern Carpathians to the Dniester, which forms a pivot of their line, and then along the Santhi Viati. In Bukovina the Russians have made a counter offensive and driven the Austrians back from the Dniester to the Pruth. The German losses in killed and wounded in these operations have been enormous, and nearly 100,000 prisoners have fallen into the hands of the Russians."

Turning to the Dardanelles, Lord Kitchener said that the progress of the allies was necessarily slow, since the country was most difficult.

But the Turks are gradually being forced to retire from positions of great strength," he continued, "and though the enemy is being constantly reinforced, the news from this front is thoroughly satisfactory."

Lord Kitchener then referred to the South African campaign and the occupation by Union of South Africa forces of Windhoek, capital of German South-west Africa.

The military ability displayed by General Botha has been of a very high order," he said in this connection, "and has confirmed the admiration felt for him as a commander and a leader of men."

Indian soldiers were utterly routing the Turks in Mesopotamia, the secretaries asserted, and were gradually clearing the whole country of hostile forces.

After referring in eulogistic terms to the progress of the war, Lord Kitchener continued: "I said I would tell the country how war is going, and I have done so. I call for those who are engaged in the production of war, and I should not leave their work. It is to men who are not performing this duty that I appeal, and I am convinced the manhood of England still available will loyally respond."

In my first speech in your lordship's house, I pointed out that this war would be a long one and would demand great sacrifices. These sacrifices have been cheerfully made by the people of this country, who not only responded in vast numbers to the summons to create the new armies required, but have since continuously supplied a constant stream of recruits which has enabled us to maintain the forces in the field and in training at their full strength with effective men."

Your lordships have watched the growth of the new armies and have had no doubts as to the efficiency of the men who are providing them with the material of the war."

"I cannot speak too highly of the men and the devotion to duty they have displayed, or of their cheerful acceptance of hardships and of the inclement weather which have proved a constant source of admiration to those who reported to me as to the wonderfully rapid progress made by the training of these new recruits."

"I am certain that the men in the field, which immediately awaits them, these men will worthily sustain the reputation they already have attained at home."

Mohonk Lake, N. Speakers have been advised that there should be no discussion of the causes and conduct of the war in the form of direct criticism of specific policies or acts of any belligerent or groups of belligerents.

The indictment against Mr. Dure came as a surprise for he was paid due to his efforts that the depositors of the bank were paid in full.

Every dollar of his indebtedness to the bank was rendered payable and in the liquidating of the affairs of the institution when the crash came.

Other officers elected were: George Devoe, Atlanta, vice president; George Sandy, Knoxville, secretary; and Edward Smith, Shreveport, treasurer.

Preferred Death to Gang.—Macon, Ga., May 18.—(Special.)—Rather than be sent to the chain-gang for stealing cabbage, Robert Smith, a negro youth, chose death by drowning, and his body has been recovered from the Ocmulgee river, nine miles below Macon.

The boy was caught in the act of putting cabbage from the farm of Oscar Brown, six miles below Macon, in his own hands.

When the hands of the watchman were pushed the negro had plunged into the river. He was for the pursuers begged him to come out of the water.

"If I do you will send me to the chain-gang, and I would rather die than have to go there," said the boy, as he began to float downstream.

The body was found three miles down the river from the spot where he entered.

One of the heaviest bonds ever made in Fulton county in a civil transaction was put up by Mrs. Emma Hight, wife of the late Emmett Hight, millionaire chieftain, when the applied for temporary administration to her dead husband's affairs.

She appeared as administratrix before Ordinary Thomas H. Jeffries Tuesday morning, less than forty-eight hours after the death of her husband.

The personal property of the dead man was estimated at $44,000 and the bond required was twice the amount, as is fixed by law.

The bond covers the position of temporary administrator. It was made by the National Surety company. The power bestowed upon the wife in this capacity does not permit her to make expenditures—only to receive and collect.

Mrs. Hight also attested to the fact that she did not know of the existence of a will of her husband. His attorney, John W. Moore and James Branch, also said that they did not know of a will. In event such a document is discovered, however, it will supersede the action taken by her.

The death of Emmett Hight brought an end to the sensational divorce proceedings that were suspended in the courts at this time of death.

W. A. Dedman and his wife own a bulldog. But Frank Dale, local real estate man, and his wife possess "nerves"; and the two met in Recorder Johnson's court Tuesday for adjudication of the difference.

Dale had Dedman arrested charged with "allowing a vicious dog to run at large." The penalty for this offense is $100 or thirty days in jail.

Dale testified that the dog came frequently into his yard, running his wife into the house, and that "she could not sleep for dreaming of the animal." It was also alleged that the dog had completely destroyed a pet cat around the house.

The recorder, while he was dead set against vicious animals, did not think Mr. Dedman deserved a $100 fine, and accordingly let him off with a warning. He kept the dog tied and prevent further complaint he would dismiss the case. To this Dedman willingly agreed.

Atlanta Rotarians at their regular meeting in the Hotel Wincock Tuesday at noon. So impressed were the girls with the Atlanta visitors that they remembered them Tuesday with a huge block of fudge which was served in bits on a plate of each Rotarian at yesterday's luncheon.

The Rotarians made up the $210 deficit in the Newcomer Night celebration, which was staged at an expense of more than $1,000. Newcomer Night will, if no plans so avert, be an annual event, devised and promoted each year by the Rotary Club. Women received from Texas Rotary clubs the clubs of other southern and western cities say that the plan will be adopted by many other Rotary organizations.

James A. Barr, director of conventions at the Panama exposition, was a guest at the Rotary club luncheon, and delivered a short address, eulogizing Atlanta as a convention center, and giving three reasons why it was the best in the south: namely, the Auditorium, the hotels and railway facilities.

QUALIFY AS EQUAL TO STANDARD TEST

With the recent addition for "standard colleges for women" in the south, Georgia has another college which announces itself as preparing to qualify as one of the six standard colleges for women in the south.

This is Cox college. The one thing, they state, that is now in the way is the lack of a library. They say that while in its present state it is one of the best libraries in the south, it even then does not conform to the requisites of a standard college.

Consequently, on Saturday, May 22, they are to have library day at Cox college. Those who are invited are sent to graduates and friends of the college. Those who are invited are sent to graduates and friends of the college.

Sewing Circle With Much Whispering

Before the stock arrives there is much to talk about. The comfort of the expectant mother is the chief topic. And there is sure to be someone who has used or knows of that splendid external job, "Mother's Friend."

It is applied to the abdominal muscle, gently rubbed in and has a most powerful effect as a relaxant. It soothes the soreness of nerves, enables the mother to expand naturally, relieves strain on the ligaments and lines set at ease any undue strain on the organs involved. And it does this with perfect safety. Expectant mothers then go through the ordeal with comparative ease and comfort. Knowing mothers who have used "Mother's Friend" speak in glowing terms of the absence of morning sickness, dizziness, strain on the ligaments and a freedom from many other distresses.

You can get "Mother's Friend" at any drug store or they will gladly get it for you. Write today to Bradford Regulator Co., 401 Lamar Bldg., Atlanta, Ga., for a highly instructive book of great value to all expectant mothers. It contains a valuable expectancy chart, rules on diet and is brimful of suggestions that all women will appreciate.

Francis Ford, original hero of the side-whisker stunt, was one of the first actors to recognize bread and butter in moving pictures. He is a P. P. P., pioneer picture player, with as many skins as a piece of birch bark. He not only acts, but he directs, produces and writes scenarios, preferring the home-baked kind to the incoherent plots sent in by correspondence school students. Do you recall him as the polished villain in "Lucille Love"? He likes to play the bad man, but he's as sunny as California.

Ford is at Universal City, the only moving-picture city in existence—the queerest, maddest, wildest, most romantic and picturesque city in the world. It has nearly 3,000 people in it, all actors, actresses or stage folk of some description. There's where most of the Universal program is made—the program that has made and is making money for the exhibitor and fast friends of all the fans. If you are going to California this Spring, go to your favorite theatre first, see some Universal moving-pictures, then drop in at Universal city and CORNFIELD HAM—There isn't any argument we can use that's a stronger appeal for your patronage of home-made products than the one statement that there is no better goods made anywhere than those you can buy right here at home. We realize that an appeal to your pride in southern goods—your loyalty to southern industries—is all right as far as it goes. But when we can convince you that the hams packed here at home are the equal—if not the superior—of any similar goods—that the cost is no greater—then we feel that it's up to you to show your pride in home products by calling for them at your grocer's. You can be convinced of the merit of Cornfield Hams, Bacon and Shoulders—if you try them once.

ARAGON SHIRTS, PANTS, OVERALLS—In one of the largest and busiest workrooms in the city, in which are employed hundreds of home people, is turned out the Aragon brand of goods made by the A. M. Robinson Co. The quality of the workmanship, the material used, the care and pains taken to make every garment just as good as it is possible to make it, has created here at home—as well as in distant states—a large demand for the Aragon goods. But still more people could be supplied—and more goods made by this company means more people employed—more money for pay rolls and more money turned right back into trade channels. Ask your dealer for Aragon shirts, or pants, or overalls—and if he hasn't them—tell him he'd better get them.
